MR. BRYAN

Wants to Know Who His Real Opponent Is.

FAVORS GUARANTY OF DEPOSITS

At Scyler, Neb., Mr. Bryan closed with a strong condemnation of what he termed the unfair attitude of President Roosevelt in taking part in the campaign.

"I had supposed," he said, "that I was running against but one Republican, but it seems that I am pitted against two. I resent his interference, and only ask him to keep his hands off and let Mr. Taft and me fight it out."

At Columbus he talked to the farmers on the guaranty of bank deposits, comparing the objections made against it with the objections first proposed to fire insurance. He said:

"The same objection now made to the guaranty of bank deposits was made against fire insurance when it was first suggested. Then its opponents argued leniently that to insure all houses was to make some men careless about fire, and that it would lead others to burn their houses to get the insurance."

"If that argument had prevailed we would have no insurance today, but the people wisely decided that we should have protection against fires so that it was better to punish criminally the few who burn their homes than to leave unprotected the many whose houses were likely to burn by accident."

"The case in favor of guaranteed banks is even stronger than the case of fire insurance, because the 100 per cent. penalty against the stockholder added to the entire loss of his investment is sufficient to prevent carelessness and the amount of money called out of bidding will more than repay the tax which is imposed upon the bank."

"From every standpoint protection of the depositor is wise and from every standpoint it is beneficial, because it helps the depositor, it helps the community and it helps the banks."

Mayfield Gets Grand Lodge Next Year.

At Bowling Green, Ky., October 14, the Old Fellows selected Mayfield as the next place of meeting and elected the following officers for the ensuing year: John D. Carroll, grand master; L. M. Williams, deputy grand master; L. M. Gruber, grand warden; R. G. Elliott, grand secretary; B. J. Durham, grand treasurer.

There was no contest for grand master and deputy grand master, but there was a spirited fight for grand warden, in which Mr. Gruber finally won over M. E. Elkins. Several people went after the scalp of Secretary Elliott, but he won out. B. J. Durham beat J. C. Helburn for grand treasurer. This is turn about, for last year Mr. Helburn beat Mr. Durham.

Banquet Mayor--Traveling Man Is Indicted For So Doing.

At Hopkinsville, Ky., Mayor Meacham was the victim of a confidence game several weeks ago. L. K. Kerbaugh, who claimed to be a traveling salesman, prevailed on the Mayor to endorse a check of $30 on a Cleveland, O., bank. He got the money and Mr. Meacham had to make good.

AGAINST BETTING.

State Racing Board Holds That Pari-Mutuel Machines Provide Ample Accommodations For the Betting Public.

The State Racing Commission refused to grant the request of the horsemen to eliminate the pari-mutuel form of betting and be allowed to return to the old style of betting known as the bookmakers. Mr. Hlinock, president of Latonia Jockey Club, said he did not want to fight the commission through the courts, and if this policy was decided upon by the management he would likely resign as president.

It is generally believed that the management of the Latonia track will go ahead with books at the meetings regardless of the decision last week and apply for an injunction restraining that body from interfering. This, in the opinion of many turfmen, would be a mistake that would have much to do with the hastening of the end of the racing game in Kentucky, already at too low an ebb.

Corn Yield Is Injured By Inbreeding.

At the Kentucky State Fair in 1908 a premium was offered for the best single ear of corn, and many entries were exhibited. The judges, one by one, eliminated all but two ears. There was apparently no choice between those two in depth of grain color, fullness of cob at butt and tip, straightness of rows, length of ear in proportion to diameter at butt, or in symmetry; but on comparison of germination one was found to have a larger proportion of infertile grains than the other, and on this point the award was made.

Mr. T. M. Banberge, Superintendent of the Queen & Crescent Railway, says that bad stands of corn are generally the result of inbreeding. Corn growers will find it profitable to detassel every other row of corn in the field just as the corn shoots into tassel. At the same time all barren stalks should be pulled up. At any rate a sufficient number of rows to supply seed for the coming year should be detasseled rows, and this should be continued from year to year. Mr. Banberge has more than doubled his corn yield by this process and the testing of his corn before planting. Had the man who failed to secure the premium at the State Fair have followed the course above indicated he would doubtless have carried off the blue ribbon, Lexington Leader.

Believes Bryan Will Win.

Theodore Bell, of California, who so ably presided over the Democratic Convention as temporary chairman, has been stamping the Western States, and is now making a tour in the East. The West and Middle West is overwhelmingly for Bryan, and Mr. Bell is gratified over the information he has gained about the Eastern States. "I believe Bryan will win," said Mr. Bell.

"All classes are tired of the Republican administration. They don't like Roosevelt's meddling. The greatest injury Taft has received has been through Roosevelt's meddling. The people are tired of the tariff. They want sweeping changes, and they have full confidence in Bryan."

A COMMON ERROR

The Same Mistake Is Made by Many Mt. Sterling People.

It's a common error To plaster the aching back, To rub with liniments rheumatic joints, When the trouble comes from the kidneys.

Dan's Kidney Pills cure all kidney ills, And are endorsed by Mt. Sterling citizens.

Mrs. Patrick Sheridan, living on South Queen St., Mt. Sterling, Ky., says: "Every member of my family have at some time used Dan's Kidney Pills and have been benefited. My back had become so weak and lame that I could not walk and the kidney secretions were too profuse in action but Dan's Kidney Pills quickly relieved these troubles. I consider them the best kidney remedy I have ever used and am glad to give them my endorsement. Last fall my daughter procured Dan's Kidney Pills at F. C. Duerson's drug store for disordered kidneys and was soon cured. They have acted as represented in every case that has come to my attention, and I deem it a pleasure to recommend them to others."

Big Gain for Bryan.

In a straw vote taken in the mechanical departments of the New York Herald the following results were obtained: For President: Bryan, 238; Taft, 75; Debs, 43. For Governor: Chandler, 250; Hughes, 77; Vanhook, 24.

Where Liquor Tax Goes.

To the Editor of the Enquirer:

In your report of the "wet and dry" election in this state an error has crept in regarding the amount of revenue lost. To date, according to your figures, 750 saloons have been voted out of business. Each liquor dealer pays $1,000 per annum. This thousand dollars is divided as follows: Five hundred dollars to the cities, towns, villages and townships in which the liquor is sold; $200 to the county and $300 to the state. This means a loss of $375,000 to the cities, $125,000 to the counties and $225,000 to the state per annum. Total, $725,000.

The elections recently held fixes the "dry" rule on the second counties for three years, so that the total loss is: To the cities, towns, villages and townships in which the liquor is sold, $1,175,000; to the counties $168,000 and to the state $725,000; total, $2,068,000.

In addition there is the loss of the rebate on the tax previously paid, which must be returned to each liquor dealer, amounting to $2.74 each day for the next year. The date of expiration is December 1, 1908.

Yours truly,

F. D. Thomas, Cincinnati, O., Oct. 6, 1908.

To Stop Sunday Bail.

The Indiana Presbyterian Synod at its meeting petitioned President Roosevelt to stop Sunday bail among in the army and navy.

"Dan's Ointment cured me a sore throat that had annoyed me a long time. The cure was permanent." Hon. S. W. Matthews, Commissioner Labor Statistics, Augusta, Me.

SOME THOUGHTS.

By Governor Willson on Trip to South Western Kentucky.

"My reception in Hopkinsville, Princeton and Paducah assures me that the people are aroused for the cause of law and order," declared Governor Willson. "I do not believe it is personal popularity of the Governor," said he, "that attracted the crowds and elicited the enthusiasm. It was the cause. When I campaigned for Governor, I had good meetings in Western Kentucky but nothing like these. Nothing like these."

He spoke of the Kentucky homes that are distressed by the lawlessness, of the restraint of freedom, of destruction of property and violations of the sanctity of the person of Kentucky citizens. He said, although he believed the planters had a grievance in the beginning, the organization of lawless bands has deteriorated the original purpose into the grossest oppression. He said he sent soldiers into the Black Patch to protect innocent lives and to protect property. That he knew who the heads of the organization are and that they know he does, and that when the proper time comes they will be exposed and sent to the penitentiary. He said that proper time can come only when local officials are ready to do their duty; for he cannot prosecute, he can only protect by the armed force of the State. If the Tobacco Trust is doing wrong, it is the duty of Commonwealth and county attorneys to prosecute it, just as it is their duty to prosecute the night riders.

Says No Office Was Promised to Keefe.

While no formal statement has been issued from the White House, Secretary Loeb denied that President Roosevelt promised the office of Commissioner General of Immigration to Daniel J. Keefe, of Detroit, president of the International Association of Longshoremen, in consideration of Mr. Keefe's action in declaring for Mr. Taft in opposition to the pro-Bryan campaign of President Gomez, of the American Federation of Labor. Mr. Loeb added that Mr. Keefe, in his denial of the story, was absolutely correct.

New cottage for rent, 252 W. Main. Miss Sue Evans. 12-1f.

Organized Labor and Temperance.

The brewers and their agents went into the meeting of the Federation of Labor in Indiana and largely directed proceedings.

They met resistance. On the plain proposition to stand for prohibition, one-third of the members voted yes. Some of them spoke with great earnestness on the subject.

Mr. M. M. Lolio, of Terre Haute, said: "If we adopt it we go on record against any attempt to regulate the low, measly places in the saloon business. Why bring upon us the hostility of many of the best people in the State by adopting such a foolish resolution?"

"The temperance people are not opposed to organized labor any more than other people, but it is the belief of the temperance people that nothing can do so much to raise the standard of living, to increase the efficiency of living and to increase wages as temperance, voluntary or enforced."

All over the world labor leaders are beginning to realize that the greatest obstacle to the improvement of labor conditions is the annual expense incurred in support of the saloons by the laboring man.

W. D. Van Horn, President of the Indiana Mine Workers, said: "I warn you that the adoption of this resolution cannot do any good."

George W. Lackey, a mine workers' delegate and a Socialist nominee for Congress, made an argument against the resolution and showed that dry towns mean increased bank accounts.

Moreover, laboring men are beginning to understand that only a small part of the money that they pay for beer and whisky ever reaches the laborer. Of the beer alone it is said that the laborer gets but 4 per cent. of the product, whereas in the average manufacturing establishments from 25 per cent. to 33 per cent. goes for wages.—Louisville Post.

At Winchester, Ky., the total registration was 1,688, the Democrats getting 809, the Republicans 851 and the independents 24. This is a gain of 60 for the Democrats and 52 for the Republicans, while the Independents lost 12. It is reported that there remain to be registered 45 Republicans and 95 Democrats.

HE CAME, SPOKE, LEFT.

Yes, that was a large assembly that gathered at the C. & O. depot on Thursday at 12:30 to see W. H. Taft, Republican candidate for President. If they went to hear, they heard but little, little either in duration or quality. We concluded that his manner wished that he be seen. What else could be expected in the short time (possibly 12 minutes) allotted to the stay, especially when the distinguished visitor's talk was sandwiched between Congressman Langley and U. S. Senator-elect W. O. Bradley. His principal thoughts were: His pleasure to be in Kentucky; his recognition of Mayor C. W. Harris' proclamation that business houses be closed from 12 to 1 o'clock; similarity of Kentuckians and Ohians; the farmers should be satisfied with prices received for hogs, cattle and other farm products during the present administration and a request that Congressman Langley be continued for another term and then he retired.

If the above is not a fair representation of what he said we will positively apologize.

We have no complaint to make because of the slight applause given him, for if there had been even an ordinary amount of enthusiasm, the assembly would have gotten less out of his remarks, and then there would have been more disappointment. We stood within about 25 feet of him, had a splendid view of him and although his voice was defective on account of much use (elsewhere) we heard distinctly. We are pleased to see the reputed leaders of thought and action in our country, and shall at all times endeavor to be courteous and fair toward them.

OUR GUARDIANS.

Merchants, doctors and editors, etc., are not elected and paid to preserve the peace. There are officers ordained and by public tax paid to do this very thing; to restrain the vicious, to protect the innocent from insult and harm, to ferret out lawlessness. The public will be slow to believe that said officers are unable in most cases to do this. If they are willing they are usually find a way to fulfill their oaths of office and earn their salaries.

We have several times expressed our sympathy and offered assistance to the guardians of the peace in their, at times, unpleasant task. We appreciate their service when they try. If they line up with sober, law-abiding people they can work wonders; if they are boozers or indifferent to their obligations, whiskey will be sold on Sunday and to minors, drunkenness will abound and law will be violated without fear of detection and punishment.

We are pleased to know that conditions are better than they were a few years ago and thank the officers for what they have done to make the town and people safer and more attractive.

We do not think that civil officers are wholly to blame for some unsavory conditions. There are too many "good citizens" who think it is none of their business to expose what they know, to tell a grand jury or a policeman what they have seen and heard.

Iowa has been placed in a column for Bryan. It does seem that a landslide is on. Let Kentucky Democrats see that a big vote is polled and that Amos Davis goes to Congress.

PRECINCT COMMITTEEMEN.

On the third Saturday in November throughout the State there will be in every precinct an election of Democratic precinct committeemen who are to serve for the next four years and who are to look after the party's affairs and honor. This is a matter of great importance. With the mass of voters rests the responsibility of electing capable, honest, sober, just and reputable men; and who, when elected, should be permitted to serve. Let there be in Montgomery no more any valid cause for complaint that unfairness has been shown, that any man has been robbed of his office, that there has been any star-chamber proceedings and decisions from which there has been no appeal except in public expression of discontent, suspicion and humiliation and a strong inclination to break away from party allegiance. We have not approved every thing done in the name of and by the authority of the great Democratic party in Kentucky. God has some claims, rights, that men should regard, and in the experience of a political party, as of an individual, the limit can be reached, when God, in his wisdom and goodness, causes that individual to be side-tracked, retired in dishonor to the private walks of a life with an unenviable record, or through the hallway of death to approach the throne where a righteous judgment will be rendered against each for the deeds done in the body. Men, it is not creditable or safe to side-track God.

Illinois for Democracy, Indiana surely Democratic and New York almost without a doubt, what may we expect next?

Send Taft out on another speaking tour and everything would fall Bryan.

COURT OF APPEALS.

On motion of Attorney General Breathitt, the case of J. W. Hedden against the State was continued until November 10. Hedden seems to have the Printing Commission on the "go," and it is the opinion of eminent lawyers he will win out.

Judge Amos Davis, Democratic candidate for Congress, was in the city Saturday and intended to remain over Monday to meet the voters of the district, but on Sunday received a telegram to come to Paintsville at once and left at 9:43 on Sunday evening. He regretted very much to not be able to stay over.

Now is an opportunity to show Morgan county our appreciation for the noble work done for Montgomery sons, by rolling up a big majority for their favored son, Judge Amos Davis, for Congress.

Mr. Taft's voice is in such condition that he has cancelled several of his appointments.

A landslide for Bryan is predicted.

OHIO IN BRYAN COLUMN

Walter Wellman Declares Republicans Have Waited

Too Long.

Columbus, O., Oct. 16.—Walter Wellman, expert political writer for the Chicago Record-Herald (Republican), said in his size-up of the Ohio situation in his paper today: "If Ohio were to vote next Tuesday (Oct. 20) the probabilities are that Bryan would carry the State. This is not my opinion alone, but that of well-informed Republican leaders with whom I have talked. What the coming fortnight of earnest campaign effort may do toward changing the present situation remains to be seen. The Republicans believe they can yet save the State. I am afraid it is too late—that the thing is 'set' against them."

LEANING TOWARD BRYAN.

"Ohio is leaning toward Bryan this year because so many factors work against Taft and so few for him. That Ohio is a Republican State under normal conditions every one knows. All the really well-informed men with whom I talked, of both parties, perceive that present conditions are driving the State hard toward Bryan, but the fact that Ohio has never yet completely deserted the Republican party in a presidential year, stares them all in the face, gives the almost despairing Republicans hope."

PITY FOR TAFT.

"It will seem a pity to many people if as magnificent a man as Judge Taft is, has to suffer the humiliation of losing his own State. He feels very keenly the possibility of it, although he believes he can be elected even if Ohio should desert him, which is not impossible. One of the most prominent Republicans in Ohio said to me: 'Ohio to-day is for Bryan, but we shall carry it election day.'"

Standing on the exact spot at Alton, Ill., where Lincoln and Douglas concluded their debate in 1858, Mr. Bryan in a thirty-minute speech on Monday to an immense crowd, openly charged that the Republican party was now preparing to purchase the election and dare not tell in advance how much money they are asking to have on hand on election day.

NEW TOWN MODEL

"CLIPPOG VILLAGE IS RUN IN YANKEE FASHION."

General Bliss' Report of Conditions in Dependence Tells of Efforts to Give Natives a Clean Municipality.

Within earshot of the buster of Uncle Sam and on the opposite side of the river from the mill, just off of Camp Kentucky, located in the town of Danville, which Gen. Tasker H. Bliss, U. S. A., in his annual report says is probably "the first and only instance in the Philippine Islands of the establishment of order and well-regulated community after the manner followed by the Anglo-Saxon settlers of the United States." His description of it is glowing, throwing an instructive side-light upon the strange land "laws" of the country, and shows how things often have to be done here outside the pale of the law to attain results that are demanded by the needs of the people.

The new town grew out of the necessity of removing the settlement of squatters at Manila on the military reservation of Camp Kentucky. After much deliberation they decided to transfer themselves from the northern to the eastern shore of Lake Lanao. They then raised by voluntary subscription the sum of 2,000 pesos, which they placed in the hands of a committee of three Americans of their number, who negotiated with the Moro for an eligible site near enough to the military reservation to be assured of some protection, and purchased it. The site was then carefully laid out, and in accordance with a previous agreement was sold at public auction to an amount sufficient to reimburse the subscribers of the original purchase price of the site. The remaining lots were then divided to the town to be sold to new settlers.

"This well-ordered, orderly and available procedure, strange as it is in its entirety without sanction of law," the report adds: "Neither the date, with whom the settlers negotiated, nor any of its followers had proved nor could prove title under existing laws. Neither the individual settlers nor the town could acquire title through the date. But the date and all his followers believed that the land belonged to him under Moro law or customs and that he could dispose of it as he did. If the settlers had not recognized these beliefs, his right if they had turned upon the site and found waste, unoccupied, uncultivated public land and should have proceeded to acquire title under the provisions of the law, but the latter should be made to apply, without compensation to the Moros, they would have brought on a war. There can be no doubt that their recognition of the fact that the Moro was there with his gun and spear (in the absence of a greater number of opposing guns) gave him a valid title for which they had to negotiate, was the only sensible, civilized and just thing for them to do. No doubt the rights they have thus acquired will in due time be confirmed."

A narrow-minded stickler for equity might in this instance, as probably in many others, have brought into the picture the fact of an army officer was able to avoid. A novel feature in this case is that the mass of the settlers are not Anglo-Saxon with a long inheritance of the principles of independent and self-governing village life, but are Chinese, Japanese, Filipinos and Moros who, without hesitation, submitted themselves to the domination and guidance of a few Americans. It is an illustration of what would happen could a sufficient number of American settlers of the old country stock—just such as those who are already here—be induced to settle in the province.

In the territory occupied by the Thruways south of Colatato Gen. Bliss finds a territory especially inviting to the investor. The people are teachable and with kind and fair treatment, would become reliable laborers. No white man, however, should venture either his own labor, or his capital without assurance of the native labor. The people are kindly disposed toward the white men, which cannot be said of the Moros, who, paradoxically, "like the white man, government, which is just and firm, but have no liking for the white man himself."

Good Enough for Him.
A country lad was invited by a town friend to attend a concert with him. As they were on their way to the concert hall the boy from the country suddenly stopped and asked the price of admission.

"Well," replied his friend, "the front seats are 50 cents each; the back seats 25 cents each and the program ten cents each."

"I'll sit in a program," said the country lad.

Burdened with Wealth.
"Did you try counting sheep for your insomnia?"

"Yes, doc, but I made a mess of it. I counted 10,000 sheep, put 'em on cars and shipped 'em to the market. The wad of money I got for 'em made me afraid to go to sleep."—Kansas City Journal.

NEW SCHOOL IDEA

"EDUCATION BY HOROSCOPE IS NOW PLANNED."

Matter Has Been Taken Up Seriously in England and a Thorough Test of Its Possibilities Is to Be Made.

Education by horoscope for the mental development of the young is having a remarkable vogue in England. With the education bill in parliament a serious discussion among the clergy and laity, the new idea of arriving at the mental condition of children—by means of casting horoscopes—may be one way of solving the various problems before the country. A new school has been founded and off-its—Homoeopoeic School, each worth $75. Strangely enough, these scholars, while competitive, do not depend on the efforts of the children themselves. Parents who wish to win a £75 horoscope scholarship have to fill out a competition form, giving the name of the child, date and hour of birth, and where the child was registered. The last condition is essential in order to prevent persons who may know something of astrology themselves from "faking" a horoscope from the boy's date and day, and thus even doing the stars out of their job.

The child whose horoscope shows the best promise for the future is awarded one of the prizes. Each of the application forms will be turned over to the committee of "well-known" astrologers, and the child having the best "future" is to be given the chance, as it were, of living up to it. For instance, if among the competitors there are any young Napoleons, Miltons or George Washingtons, this fact will be taken into account, and all the budding geniuses have to do is simply to "buck" and the future will do the rest.

That the new idea is "catching on" in England is demonstrated by the fact that hundreds of parents have come in for the prize offered. If the method becomes general, it will save educational authorities a vast deal of trouble instead of worrying with the naturally deficient, the casting of the horoscope will show where the short-comings lie, and the child can be dealt with accordingly. There is no use in casting an education bill for Isaac Newton in a child who will never reach the heights of intellectual attainment of Simple Simon, for instance, and so, the child will be saved, and so.

Children who receive the horoscope are to get the money in "lump cash." The idea of giving out money in connection with these new tests is to be a serious difficulty, and that alone will account for the immense popularity of the new scheme. It is not money that will be paid for horoscope, but scholarship. The children had to wait until the future corrobored the predictions of the star-gazing experts, very little money would be taken in the matter. The scholarships are to be given on very practical subjects. For instance, if the horoscope indicates that the child has musical talent, the £75 award is to be devoted to developing the musical faculties, and the course will be followed with reference to artistic genius, business capacity and even athletic ability. Just what this last term signifies it is a little difficult to say. It seems, however, that the horoscopes are not to limit their award. If a child's career points, for instance, to a brilliant future as a trust manager, every facility—to the extent of the £75—is to be given to develop the natural ability. In the excellent directions indicated by the star chart.

The scholarships for the best horoscopes are not to be confined either to girls or boys, but either sex is open to compete. The first three awards are to be made to children under the age of 14, while the fourth goes to the boy or girl between the ages of 14 and 17 whose horoscope denotes the possibility of those qualities most essential to success in a commercial career.

The Proud Pupil.
San Francisco is chuckling over a story about a little Nelson, the son of a poor of Joe Gans, the "old master." Nelson appeared in a fashionable restaurant—day or two after the fight. His presence made a sensation. He was stared at as though he had been a pretty girl in a showy skirt. It happened that an Englishwoman, who expressed a desire to meet the champion, and one of her companions quickly arranged the matter with Nelson's second or third assistant business manager.

Barthelme Nelson, Countess Eve, shake hands with him, countless there isn't no pride about him. He'll let you."

Fatal Admission.
Merchant—What other qualities does he have for the place?
Applicant—Well, my friends tell me I have a contented disposition and—
Merchant—You won't do. We want a man with a discontented disposition, one that will hustle.

Our Public Building.
Word was received on Saturday evening that a site for our city's Public Building had been selected. According to the preference of many of our people the residence property of H. C. McKee on Main street, between the Christian and Presbyterian Churches, has been decided upon. The alley west of the Christian Church will be made 17 feet wider and the plot of ground will be 120 feet on Main street by 130 feet on the alley or Bank street extended. The price agreed upon was $10,750. The 130 feet from Main up Bank (extended) will leave about 50 feet of McKee's lot where his marble shop now stands. The contract is effective within sixty days. 'Till the Government is ready to begin work, Judge McKee can use the buildings by payment of ground rent. It is not known at what time McKee will be asked to vacate. After notice is served he has 30 days in which to clear the lot. The location is central and very desirable.

RELIGIOUS
Rev. Milne, of Sharpsburg, preached at Gilead on Sunday.
The State Presbyterian Synod meets next year at Lexington.
Rev. C. W. Dick continues with the Christian Church at North Middletown until January 1.
During the pastorate of Rev. Wm. Panch in Richmond the Catholics have built a new and attractive church edifice.
The protracted meeting at the 112th Street Colored Christian Church, by Rev. Monroe Jackson, of Louisville, is now in the third week. There have been fifteen additions.

The American Missionary society presented its annual statement of work accomplished up to October 1, 1908, before the International Missionary Convention of the Church of Christ New Orleans, La., October 13. Receipts for the year were $123,000 in round numbers. There were 108 missionaries at work, a gain of twenty-six over 1907; 158 new churches were organized, a gain of thirty-four over 1907. Membership in 1908 increased over 32,000.

In the Lexington District of the Kentucky Conference of the M. E. Church South, there are eleven Foreign Missionary Societies, including Adults, Young People and Juveniles, and eleven Adult Home Mission Societies. At the annual district meeting, held at the Methodist Church in Mt. Sterling, October 14 to 16, in which both Foreign and Home workers united, these societies were unusually well represented. The officers in charge of the meeting were: Mrs. C. F. Atterhill, of Winchester, District Secretary for the Foreign work, and Mrs. Virginia K. Hoover, of Nicholasville, District Secretary of Home work. Conference officers were: Mrs. W. H. Garnett, of Winchester, Conference Treasurer of Foreign work; Mrs. A. E. Best, of Millersburg, Superintendent of Juvenile Foreign work; Mrs. J. J. Dickey, of Perryville, Conference Corresponding Secretary for the Home work, and Mrs. Claude Paxton, of Mt. Sterling, First Vice President of Home work. The various phases of Mission work were presented by officers and delegates. A pleasing innovation was the absence of the usual Auxiliary reports, in place of which the delegates discussed the strong and weak points of their several societies. The body were grateful to Dr. J. L. Weber, pastor of the Mt. Sterling Methodist church and Rev. O. J. Chandler, pastor of the Methodist church of Winchester, for the very able addresses delivered by them on Wednesday and Thursday evenings. Also for the beautiful musical programs rendered by Mrs. Abner Rogers, of Lexington; Mrs. James Turner and Mrs. J. M. Fuqua, of Nicholasville; Miss Nitra Hudson and Misses Lillian and Lodema Wood, of Mt. Sterling. An especially pleasing feature of the meeting was the presence of Miss Elizabeth Smith, the Deaconess in charge of the Louisville Wesley House. In her own charming manner she told our people much of her work in Louisville and of the Deaconess' work in general. This work being new to our people proved of much interest. Altogether the meeting was one of unusual profit and instruction for those in attendance.

KIDD-KING.
Robert, son of A. C. Kidd, of this city, and Miss Lulu King, of Lexington, were married by Rev. Simpson, of that city, on Oct. 2.
FRENCH-PICKRELL.
We had not the pleasure of accepting an invitation to the wedding, but we cheer the following from the report by the Winchester Democrat of Friday, October 16: "Rarely has a wedding been celebrated in any private home in this county with such brilliant festivities as was that Wednesday evening of Mr. William Parrish French and Miss Patsy Pickrell at 'Bonhaven,' the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Pickrell, on the Lexington road. The exquisite beauty of 'Bonhaven' with its beautiful lawn illuminated by numerous electros, made an attractive scene. The entire home sparkled with electric lights and the decorations were beautiful. The marriage ceremony was performed by Rev. Richard French, father of the groom. Immediately preceding the bride and her Maid of Honor, Miss Margaret Spahr, came the groom, accompanied by his brother, Mr. James French. The bride was a picture of sweet and girlish loveliness, gowned in elegant white satin. Directoire style, real lace on bodice and skirt. Her handsome veil was caught with a coronet of orange blossoms. She carried roses and valley lilies. After congratulations a buffet luncheon was served, and the happy young couple left for a short bridal trip. The bride is the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Pickrell. The groom is a prominent young business man. A magnificent array of presents was showered on the happy couple."

Why Colds are Dangerous.
Because you have contracted ordinary colds and recovered from them without treatment of any kind, do not for a moment imagine that colds are not dangerous. Every one knows that pneumonia and chronic catarrh have their origin in a common cold. Consumption is not caused by a cold but the cold prepares the system for the reception and development of the germs that would not otherwise have found lodgment. It is the same with all infectious diseases. Diphtheria, scarlet fever, measles and whooping cough and much more likely to be contracted when the child has a cold. You will see from this that more real danger lurks in a cold than in any other of the common ailments. The easiest and quickest way to cure a cold is to take Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. The many remarkable cures effected by this preparation have made it a staple article of trade over a large part of the world. For sale by R. H. White & Co., 13-47.

Public Sale.
My farm of 197 acres, situated in Bath county, on Slate Creek, 2 miles from Stepstone, will be sold November 9th, 1908, to the highest bidder at the court house door in Owingsville, Ky. It has 2 good tenant houses, 2 good barns and numerous other outbuildings; is well fenced and watered; has fine young orchard; land lays well and all in grass except 15 or 20 acres.

No Federal Liquor License.

The Evening Post has received from a friend in Sturgeon, Ky., a protest against the issue by the Federal government of a special license to sell liquor in prohibition territory. The writer says:

"I wish you to inform me if there has ever been a bill known as the Anti-Liquor League Bill, introduced in the United States Congress to prohibit the government of the United States issuing government license to persons for the manufacture or sale of spirituous, vinous or malt liquors or mixtures thereof in districts, counties, States or Territories of the United States where the citizens have local option? And further to safeguard the people through the shipment of liquors into any of the above-named places and through interstate-commerce regulations?"

First—Several bills have been introduced to prevent manufacturers of liquor invading prohibition territory with their product through the mails or under the protection of the laws regulating interstate commerce. Some of these bills have satisfied the lawyers in Congress, but they have been seriously considered, and it is believed before we have continental prohibition some effective statute will be framed which will establish "home rule" beyond assault and prevent manufacturers treating with contempt the purpose of the people and the police powers of the States.

Second The Federal government does not issue any license to sell liquor. This authority must come exclusively from the State, through State laws. Justice Field, in rendering the decision of the Supreme Court in the case of Goodyear vs. Christensen, said: "The police power of the State is fully competent to regulate the business, to mitigate its evils, or to suppress it entirely. There is no inherent right in a citizen to sell intoxicating liquors by retail. It is not a privilege of a citizen of the State or of a citizen of the United States."

The laws of the State determine the conditions under which the trade shall be conducted, or whether it may be conducted at all. The Federal government respects those rights and issues no license at all, authorizing the sale of liquor.

Third—The Federal government does not impose a tax on all sellers of liquor. When it collects that special tax, it gives a receipt for the money paid, and that receipt must be exposed to show that the dealer is complying with the Federal law. That receipt is not a license, and it confers no authority whatever. If it is displayed in possession on territory, it gives no protection to the dealer. On the contrary, it is evidence that a dealer is doing business in a State, and can be subject to a State tax, and can be subject to a Federal tax.

The Federal government is far more vigilant, far more exacting in enforcement of law than are the local authorities. When its officers find a man is selling liquor, they do not stop to inquire whether or not he has complied with State law. Federal officers cannot enter a State laws they simply impose on him the special tax and the penalties and enforce payment.

Instead of being an obstacle to the enforcement of State laws, the Federal tax receipt ought to be used to aid local authorities in establishing the guilt of men violating the laws. Louisville Post.

For Chronic Diarrhoea.

"While in the army in 1862 I was taken with chronic diarrhoea," says George M. Felton of South Gibson, Pa. "I have since tried many remedies but without any permanent relief, until Mr. A. W. Mills, of this place, presented to my attention Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, one bottle of which stopped it at once." For sale by R. H. White & Co., 13-14.

REV. GEO. W. RULAND FOR BROKEN HEART

Says Vinol Built Him Up and Strengthened Him When Run-Down and Overworked.

"I have used the cod liver and iron preparation, Vinol, as a tonic and I do not believe there is any other medicine that can equal it. It built me up and strengthened me when run-down and over-worked. Vinol has done more for me than was chimed for it." Rev. Geo. W. Ruland, Keene, N. H.

Vinol is an honest medicine, it contains no injurious drugs, but it actually does contain all of the medicinal, curative and body-building elements of cod liver oil actually taken from fresh cod's livers without a drop of oil to upset the stomach and retard its work, and tonic iron added.

Vinol is recognized throughout the world as the greatest strength-giver for old people, weak, sickly women and children, and to build up strength after sickness.

Vinol is unexcelled for hacking coughs, chronic colds and bronchitis.

If Vinol fails to give satisfaction we always return money on demand. Wm. S. Lloyd, druggist, Mt. Sterling.

I. & N. Holds Its Annual Meeting.

The fifty-seventh annual meeting of the stockholders of the Louisville & Nashville Railroad Company was recently held in Louisville at the offices of Milton H. Smith.

The annual report of President Smith included the results of operations during the year, which have previously been published, showing gross earnings of $41,620,281, a decrease of $5,643,044 compared with last year. Net earnings, after deducting operating expenses and taxes, were $10,362,598. Fixed charges amounted to $8,221,557, leaving a surplus of $2,141,041, which was carried to the profit and loss account. This account showed at the close of the fiscal year, ending June 30, a credit balance of $19,015,050.

Saved Them.

Dr. J. O. Gresson, State Secretary of American Veterinary Association, Knoxville, Ind., says: "The herd of hogs on which the Bourbon Dog College kennel was used, was sick yesterday. We gave the remedy the credit of saving them." Sold by W. S. Lloyd.

There seems to be some doubt as to whether Gov. Johnson will have opposition for Governor of Minnesota. It is reported that his opponent, Jacob F. Jacobson, is not a naturalized citizen.

Minister Contributes $5,000 to American Missionary Society.

At the annual meeting of the American Missionary Society at New Orleans, La., last week it was announced that Rev. John Ball of Kansas had contributed $5,000 to missionary purposes during the year. The minister caused a hearty laugh when he said he had made the money by farming, not by preaching.

VARVING LAWS IN BREACH OF PROMISE CASES.

Not Easy for Jilted Damsel to Recover Damages from Faithless Swain—Practical Arrangement Prevails in Germany.

England is the best place—from the plaintiff's point of view—for a breach of promise action. All other countries seem to regard with grave suspicion any attempt to recover monetary compensation for the loss of a prospective husband, and unless the plaintiff has a strong case indeed it is never worth her while to carry her grievance into the law courts, says THE HITS.

In France breach of promise cases are rare for the simple reason that the law requires the plaintiff to prove that she has suffered pecuniary loss. This is not an easy thing to do, on the part of the lady, especially in a country where a girl without a dot—that is a marriage portion—has a poor chance of finding a husband. Holland and Austria have adopted the French system, and the result has been about the same. Breach actions are rare. The injured damsel or her relatives usually taking the law into their own hands.

Practical Germany, as might be expected, has perhaps the best method for solving this problem. When a young couple become engaged they have to go through a public betrothal ceremony that ought to knock all the shyness out of them. In the local town hall the pair declare their affection, willingness to marry, etc., ending by signing a collection of documents that apparently leave no loophole for escape.

But if either party to the contract wishes to withdraw another journey is undertaken to the town hall and an other collection of documents signed, attested and sealed. Then the authorities determine the question of compensation—should it be claimed. In this connection it may be said that the man on an average does not do so. The usual award is one-fifth of the marriage dowry. It is easy to understand, when all this is remembered, how loath the young people of Germany are to break their betrothal oaths.

As the law of Italy offers little or no protection whatever to a jilted damsel and swain it is not surprising that the attitude should be the favorite mode of deciding breach of promise cases. The Italian law demands that the person suing for "breach" shall produce a written promise to marry from the defendant, otherwise the action cannot proceed. This difficulty is almost insurmountable, and the Italian judges are seldom troubled to do justice between one-line lovers.

To bring an action for breach of promise of marriage against a religious monarch is an achievement, but it has been done, and by an English lady. It is now 15 years since Miss Amy Mitchell sued the sultan of Johore, and as there was a doubt whether the dumpy one was actually a religious monarch the case was allowed to come into court. But the judge decided in favor of the sultan, and Miss Mitchell was nonsuited.

It is remarkable that one of the two suits which have brought verdicts of amounts each to a plaintiff, signed by a matrimonial paper. The second case was between a well-known actress and the eldest son of an earl.

Plunk's Fight for Young.

When Christian Lohndes, superintendent of the Rice Harbor cemetery, died the remains recently lay in state in one of the tents surrounded by soldiers. When he was attacked by a young man, which was fatal, he was young man. With no weapons except his fists, Lohndes was compelled to fight, but he came to town and was killed. When he returned the young man had disappeared. Later in the afternoon he again appeared, crossed the harbor, and the man was killed. The body was found in a large specimen of a man four feet across the shoulders. Harbor City Correspondence of Philadelphia Record.

Couldn't Believe It.

"The crowd couldn't believe it," exclaimed the city visitor, as he stepped his head on the platform and immediately wiped his glasses. "I was just as you, but I saw the crowd that magnificent building up, and I was sure how you've got it. I don't think, stranger. What's his name?" answered the native, with true city courtesy.

"Oh, I was sure I made a mistake," said the visitor, laughing hysterically, "because these buildings and the scenery tally exactly with the descriptions and pictures in the 'Summer Vacationists' Catalogue.'"

Professional Wanderer—Sunny, is this here 1908 one of them local-opinion towns?

Boy—Yes, sir; I guess so, yes. You can get it either at the drug store or the grocery.—Hellman.

Space and Matter.

"One body cannot occupy more than one place at the same time." "That's never seen a fat woman in a room, cat?"—Puck.

DOE TO A MOTHER'S GRIEF.

How the Blanche Ferry Sweet Pea Was Brought to Perfection.

There is an interesting story told by Paul Kirk in a recent issue of the Housekeeper, concerning the discovery of the Blanche Ferry sweet pea. The story is this:

The daughter of a farmer in Jefferson county, N. Y., married a quarryman who neglected her, forcing her to live a starved and miserable existence in a small home over some limestone ledges.

After while the woman became a mother, and then death came and claimed the child. The mother took the body back to her own childhood home—one of the most beautiful in New York—for burial.

When the funeral was over, the mother, stricken with grief, gathered from the old farm place a few seeds of the old Painted Lady sweet pea. These seeds she carried away with her to the new little home by the stone quarry. There she planted them.

She flowered, and the mother saved some of the seed for another season's planting. From year to year, in this manner, the flowers were perpetuated and the number of the seed was kept increasing. After 15 or 20 years the flowers had undergone a change—had taken on a new beauty, an interest in the surrounding mother's life.

She no longer resembled the old Painted Lady blossoms. The thin poor soil, with its large element of limestone, seemed to give it life and compensation had given more abundant flowers, larger and brighter color.

Mr. Tracy, of the government department of agriculture, while looking after some seed crops in the vicinity, saw and admired the flowers, learned their history, secured some of the seed, and later sent them out to the world as the Blanche Ferry sweet pea.

Parental Companionship.

A very pleasant sight and a hopeful sign, too, is where a father and son are friendly. Neither can have a better one, if it is a real one, nor a more enjoyable one if they understand one another, which is easy to do. There is no health, contentment, joy and profit in that sort of companionship that they can form in the busy walks of life.

Neither the authority of the father nor the respect of the son need be sacrificed to sustain this relation. These two things, however, they occupy the middle ground of friendship and become kindness and courtesy. But the practical effect of such companionship is that it gives the father a kindly common sense, a real education for the boy, for it directs his life toward affairs that have worth and interest, and it gives the son a sense of responsibility and a feeling of the real value of things.—Ohio State Journal.

Getting Out of Tight Place.

When late William Windom, secretary of the treasury, dropped dead at a chamber of commerce dinner in New York some years ago, just as he was speaking there were but two reporters present, says the Saturday Evening Post. The others had written their stories, sent down their notes, and were waiting for the speaker to come more interesting places. In one newspaper office the news did not get in until a minute before time for closing press. Two columns of Windom's speech were in type in the form, as it was too late to make over and catch the mails, an enterprising editor wrote "The Hon. William Windom dropped dead at the chamber of commerce dinner last night. If he had not dropped dead he would have been in the following: This it stood on (1) they could make over."

Church Tower His Pulpit.

Sunday last being "Feast Sunday," the feast of St. John the Evangelist, the Rev. C. Harrison, hit upon the novel idea of preaching from the church tower. The greater part of the congregation seated themselves in the churchyard, while many stood on the highway.

The reverend gentleman took as his text, "The Builders and the Tower." He possessed a strong voice, his remarks were heard distinctly by the large crowd of callers and others gathered together, the weather being all that could be desired.—London Evening Standard.

The Whistling Boy.

Any one who has listened to a burst of rapid syllables in an English dialect knows that after the din has increased, and the storm risen to a certain height of intensity, it is certain that in some way in the salient (and may heaven bless him!) will insert two fingers in his mouth and oblige with that demonstration known as the "death whistle." It is most effective. It gives a finishing touch. It shows that the climax has been reached. It is the last word in the way of friendly or unfriendly demonstration.

Mental Reservations.

"Do you expect people to believe all you tell them in a campaign?" "No," answered Senator Sorghum. "And on the other hand they must expect me to tell them all I believe."

The Governor and the Grand Jury

The summons of Gov. Willson before the grand jury at Hopkinsville was an unusual proceeding. The Louisville Post says:

"Governor Willson appeared more to show his respect for the law than as a concession of the right of a grand jury to require of the Governor of Kentucky reasons for his action or his utterance."

"Personally Governor Willson has had no experience that could aid a grand jury desirous of indicating lawless men and maintaining order. Officially all communication is privileged, and no process exists to require the Governor to divulge it."

"Governor Brown, summoned to testify, asserted the independence of the Executive first, and waiving his privileges as a matter of courtesy, gave the court such information as he believed it was entitled to."

"Jefferson pointedly refused to offer any summons bringing the President into court."

"Governor Willson has a like regard for his office, but answered the call and talked to the grand jury."
